

Code of Conduct

DataOps Summit 2021, Organized by StreamSets

DataOps Summit 2021 is dedicated to providing a safe and healthy virtual conference experience for everyone.

We bring together the best data professionals from around the world and are proud of the community we've built over the last several years. We honor our conference participants and are committed to creating a safe and inclusive experience for all our conference attendees, without regard to ancestry, race, religion, gender, gender identity or expression, sexual orientation, medical condition, mental or physical disability, physical appearance, or age.

In that spirit, let's continue in the virtual world what we've started in the physical world. During the course of the DataOps Summit 2021 virtual conference, please keep in mind the following code of conduct:

Summit is a safe and inclusive environment. We've got plenty of great content to keep us focused. As such, let's avoid things that could make other attendees feel uncomfortable (things you would never do anyway!) like name-calling, trolling, bullying, or harassing.

You are responsible for what you say and do. Be respectful if you interact with others at Summit. If you aren't, we reserve the right to take action, including removing you from Summit without a refund.

Treat data as confidential. We are all well aware of how valuable information is. Please don't copy, record, and/or distribute presentations without express permission.

Reporting. If someone makes you or anyone else feel unsafe or unwelcome, please report it as soon as possible to dataopssummit2021@streamsets.com and provide your name, phone number, email, and a description of the situation.

The reporting mechanisms under this Code of Conduct are not intended to address criminal activity or emergency situations. If there is an emergency or you have been the victim of a crime, please dial 911 or contact the appropriate authorities.

We want you to get the full DataOps Summit experience. Code of conduct violations reduce the value of our event for everyone – let's keep it positive!
